

Lea Sakran is an author, storyteller, and professional voiceover artist.

Stories have accompanied her since childhood as a source of courage, perspective shifts, and connection. With a background in music, theatre, and artistic expression, she brings narrative worlds to life with warmth, precision, and emotional depth.

For more than seven years, she taught creative writing and has written over one hundred scripts for image films – experiences that shaped her sense of rhythm, narrative structure, and voice. Her multilingual work spans different artistic fields and reflects her passion for stories that resonate across generations.

With Gusta & Gusto, she combines her love of storytelling with an invitation for readers of all ages to embark on a warm, humorous, and profound journey.
